Pride Of South Africa Zulu:

Writing South Africa Derek Attridge, Rosemary Jolly, 1998-01-22 During the final years of the apartheid era and the subsequent transition to democracy South African literary writing caught the world's attention as never before Writers responded to the changing political situation and its daily impact on the country's inhabitants with works that recorded or satirised state enforced racism explored the possibilities of resistance and rebuilding and creatively addressed the vexed question of literature's relation to politics and ethics Writing South Africa offers a window on the literary activity of this extraordinary period that conveys its range going well beyond a handful of world renowned names and its significance for anyone interested in the impact of decolonisation and democratisation on the cultural sphere It brings together for the first time discussions by some of the most distinguished South African novelists poets and dramatists with those of leading commentators based in South Africa Britain and North America

African Radio and Minority Languages Limukani Mathe, 2025-04-03 Within Africa radio provides an important platform for accommodating diverse linguistic groups and enabling speakers to express themselves in their own local languages This book investigates how radio broadcasting across the continent provides a platform for cultural participation and the representation of minority language speakers in a contested public sphere In African media a fierce contest wages for representation and participation in which majority languages often emerge at the exclusion of minority ethnolinguistic groups This book considers the important role that radio can play in broadcasting in minority languages Drawing on in depth original analysis ethnographic observation and interviews with minority language radio hosts and guests from across South Africa Zimbabwe Nigeria Malawi Namibia Mozambique Lesotho and Kenya this book considers to what extent African radio is accommodative of minority languages and what the challenges and prospects are for this Ultimately the book argues that radio's three tier system of broadcasting through analogue and digital radio leaves the medium of radio particularly well placed to provide equal access for ethnolinguistic groups in Africa This ambitious and broad ranging study will be an essential read for scholars and students of media studies and sociolinguistics in Africa

Mandela, Mobutu, and Me Lynne Duke, 2007-12-18 In this stunning memoir veteran Washington Post correspondent Lynne Duke takes readers on a wrenching but riveting journey through Africa during the pivotal 1990s and brilliantly illuminates a continent where hope and humanity thrive amid unimaginable depredation and horrors For four years as her newspaper's Johannesburg bureau chief Lynne Duke cut a rare figure as a black American woman foreign correspondent as she raced from story to story in numerous countries of central and southern Africa From the battle zones of Congo Zaire to the quest for truth and reconciliation in South Africa from the teeming displaced person's camps of Angola and the killing field of the Rwanda genocide to the calming Indian Ocean shores of Mozambique She interviewed heads of state captains of industry activists tribal leaders medicine men and women mercenaries rebels refugees and ordinary hardworking people And it is they the ordinary people of Africa who fueled the hope and affection that drove Duke's reporting. The nobility of the ordinary African struggles so often absent from accounts of the continent is at the heart of Duke's searing story. MANDELA, MOBUTU AND ME is a richly detailed, clear-eyed account of the hard realities Duke discovered, including the devastation wrought by ruthless rapacious dictators like Mobutu Sese Seko and his successor Laurent Kabila in the Congo, and the appalling indifference of Europeans and Americans to the legacy of their own exploitation of the continent and its people. But Duke also records with admiration the visionary leadership and personal style of Nelson Mandela in South Africa as he led his country's inspiring transition from apartheid in the twilight of his incredible life. Whether it was touring underground gold and copper mines, learning to carry water on her head, filing stories by flashlight or dodging gunmen, Duke's tour of Africa reveals not only the spirit and travails of an amazing but troubled continent; it also explores the heart and fearlessness of a dedicated journalist.

The Politics of Heritage in Africa Derek R. Peterson, Kodzo Gavua, Ciraj Rassool, 2015-03-02. Heritage work has had a uniquely wide currency in Africa's politics. Secure within the pages of books, encoded in legal statutes, encased in glass display cases and enacted in the panoply of court ritual, the artefacts produced by the heritage domain have become a resource for government administration, a library for traditionalists and a marketable source of value for cultural entrepreneurs. The Politics of Heritage in Africa draws together disparate fields of study: history, archaeology, linguistics, the performing arts and cinema, to show how the lifeways of the past were made into capital, a store of authentic knowledge that political and cultural entrepreneurs could draw from. This book shows African heritage to be a mode of political organisation, a means by which the relics of the past are shored up, reconstructed and revalued as commodities, as tradition, as morality or as patrimony.

LGBT Transnational Identity and the Media Christopher Pullen, 2012-02-29. Offering a critical introduction into LGBT lesbian, gay, bisexual and transgender transnational identity in the media, this book examines performances and representations within documentary and fiction-oriented texts. An interdisciplinary approach is put forward, revealing new potentials for non-western queer identity.

African Language Media Abiodun Salawu, 2020-11-16. Government Leaders, Military Rulers and Political Activists David W. Del Testa, 2014-01-27. In each volume, an introductory essay outlines the history of the disciplines under discussion and describes how changes and innovations in these disciplines have affected our lives. The biographies that follow are organized in an A-Z format; each biography is divided into a life section describing the individual's life and influences and a legacy section summarizing the impact of that individual's work throughout history. These biographies cover a diverse group of men and women from around the globe and throughout history. Franklin Delano Roosevelt, Mao Tse tung and Genghis Khan are among the 200 well known historical figures included in this volume. Examples of other lesser known yet important individuals covered in this work are Gustavas Adolphus, Swedish empire creator, Hatshepsut, queen of ancient Egyptian dynasty and Jean Jaur's French socialist leader and pacifist. Each synopsis provides information on each individual's enduring impact on the common understanding of fundamental themes of human existence.

Reading Writing Right Jeremy Punt, 2018-10-18. In a collection of essays, former students, colleagues and friends of Prof Elna Mouton honour her life, career and scholarly contributions upon her retirement from Stellenbosch University. The various essays interact with Prof Mouton's concern for biblical hermeneutics, ethics and the interactions and connections between the two, ultimately illustrating the width and variety of interest that her work stimulated and which it interacted with.

Reframing the Musical Sarah K. Whitfield, 2019-03-01. This critical and inclusive edited collection offers an overview of the musical in relation to issues of race, culture and identity. Bringing together contributions from cultural, American and theatre studies for the first time, the chapters offer fresh perspectives on musical theatre history, calling for a radical and inclusive new approach. By questioning ideas about what the musical is about and who it is for, this groundbreaking book retells the story of the musical, prioritising previously neglected voices to reshape our understanding of the form. Timely and engaging, this is required reading for undergraduate and postgraduate students of musical theatre. It offers an intersectional approach which will also be invaluable for theatre practitioners.
