Dariusz Jemielniak, 2020-03-25 The social sciences are becoming datafied. The questions once considered the domain of sociologists are now answered by data scientists operating on large datasets and breaking with methodological tradition for better or worse. The traditional social sciences such as sociology or anthropology are under the double threat of becoming marginalized or even irrelevant, both from new methods of research which require more computational skills and from increasing competition from the corporate world which gains an additional advantage based on data access. However, unlike data scientists sociologists and anthropologists have a long history of doing qualitative research The more quantified datasets we have the more difficult it is to interpret them without adding layers of qualitative interpretation Big Data therefore needs Thick Data This book presents the available arsenal of new methods and tools for studying society both quantitatively and qualitatively opening ground for the social sciences to take the lead in analysing digital behaviour It shows that Big Data can and should be supplemented and interpreted through thick data as well as cultural analysis Thick Big Data is critically important for students and researchers in the social sciences to understand the possibilities of digital analysis both in the quantitative and qualitative area and to successfully build mixed methods approaches Research Design Julianne Cheek, Elise [by, 2023-03-28 Designing research is about making decisions to transform an idea into a plan that can provide answers to a research problem or question Thinking about and then making these decisions results in the research design the plan that will be followed to conduct the research and answer the question This text engages in a dialogue with the reader providing a serious but accessible introduction to research design for use as a guide when designing your own research or when reading the research of others Julianne Cheek and Elise by show that designing research is an iterative and reflexive process in which there is constant thinking through and re visiting of decisions about that design as it develops They use a variety of pedagogical devices throughout the book including Tip Activity and Putting it into Practice boxes to emphasize specific points and encourage readers to think about the practical implications of what they have learned

Telling Stories with Data Rohan Alexander,2023-07-27 The book equips students with the end to end skills needed to do data science That means gathering cleaning preparing and sharing data then using statistical models to analyse data writing about the results of those models drawing conclusions from them and finally using the cloud to put a model into production all done in a reproducible way At the moment there are a lot of books that teach data science but most of them assume that you already have the data This book fills that gap by detailing how to go about gathering datasets cleaning and preparing them before analysing them There are also a lot of books that teach statistical modelling but few of them teach how to communicate the results of the models and how they help us learn about the world Very few data science textbooks cover ethics and most of those that do have a token ethics chapter Finally reproducibility is not often emphasised in data science books This book is based around a straight forward workflow conducted in an ethical and reproducible way gather data prepare data analyse data and communicate those findings This book will achieve the goals by working through extensive case studies in terms of gathering and preparing data and integrating ethics throughout It is specifically designed around teaching how to write about the data and models so aspects such as writing are explicitly covered And finally the use of GitHub and the open source statistical language R are built in throughout the book

Key Features Extensive code examples
Ethics integrated throughout Reproducibility integrated throughout
Focus on data gathering messy data and cleaning data Extensive formative assessment throughout
