Camarinha-Matos,Hamideh Afsarmanesh,2013-06-05 Towards Balanced Automation The concept Manufacturing industries worldwide are facing tough challenges as a consequence of the globalization of economy and the openness of the markets Progress of the economic blocks such as the European Union NAFTA and MERCOSUR and the global agreements such as GATT in addition to their obvious economic and social consequences provoke strong paradigm shifts in the way that the manufacturing systems are conceived and operate To increase profitability and reduce the manufacturing costs there is a recent tendency towards establishing partnership links among the involved industries usually between big industries and the networks of components suppliers To benefit from the advances in technology similar agreements are being established between industries and universities and research institutes Such an open tete cooperation network may be identified as an extended enterprise or a virtual enterprise In fact the manufacturing process is no more carried out by a single enterprise rather each enterprise is just a node that adds some value a step in the manufacturing chain to the cooperation network of enterprises The new trends create new scenarios and technological challenges especially to the Small and Medium size Enterprises SMEs that clearly comprise the overwhelming majority of manufacturing enterprises worldwide Under the classical scenarios these SMEs would have had big difficulties to access or benefit from the state of the art technology due to their limited human financial and material resources Popular Science ,1973-10 Popular Science gives our readers the information and tools to improve their technology and their world The core belief that Popular Science and our readers share The future is going to be better and science and technology are the driving forces that will help make it better Computer Applications in Production Engineering Qiangnan Sun,Zesheng Tang,Yijun Zhang,2016-02-02 This volume reviews the latest global research results in computer applications The book contains a selection of papers presented at the Fifth International Conference on Computer Applications in Production and Engineering arranged by the International Federation for Information Processing and held in Beijing China in May 1995 Comparable Corpora and Computer-assisted Translation Estelle Maryline Delpech,2014-07-22 Computer assisted translation CAT has always used translation memories which require the translator to have a corpus of previous translations that the CAT software can use to generate bilingual lexicons This can be problematic when the translator does not have such a corpus for instance when the text belongs to an emerging field To solve this issue CAT research has looked into the leveraging of comparable corpora i e a set of texts in two or more languages which deal with the same topic but are not translations of one another This work had two primary objectives The first is to assess the input of lexicons extracted from comparable corpora in the context of a specialized human translation task The second objective is to identify bilingual lexicon extraction methods which best match the translators needs determining the current limits of these techniques and suggesting improvements The author focuses in particular on the identification of fertile translations the management of multiple morphological structures and the ranking of candidate translations The experiments are carried out on two language pairs English French and English German and on specialized texts dealing with breast cancer This research puts significant emphasis on applicability methodological choices are guided by the needs of the final users This book is organized in two parts the first part presents the applicative and scientific context of the research and the second part is given over to efforts to improve compositional translation The research work presented in this book received the PhD Thesis award 2014 from the French association for natural language processing
