Professional Development As Transformative Learning New Perspectives For Teachers Of Adults:

Professional Development as Transformative Learning Patricia Cranton, 1996-03-15 Professional Development as Transformative Learning draws on recent scholarship in adult education to provide practical ideas for adult educators on how to stimulate and support their own development as educators and better understand the process of professional development as adult learning Building on the work of Mezirow Brookfield and other contemporary theorists Patricia Cranton creates a practical personal approach to educator development one that is self directed reflective and transformative Throughout the book Cranton offers examples of her strategies in action showing how adult educators in a variety of settings can use these techniques to improve their skills and practice Transformative Curriculum Design in Health Sciences Education Halupa,

Colleen, 2015-04-30 A crucial element in ensuring patient safety and quality of care is the proper training of the next generation of doctors nurses and healthcare staff To effectively serve their students health science educators must first prepare themselves with competencies in pedagogy and curriculum design Transformative Curriculum Design in Health Sciences Education provides information for faculty to learn how to translate technical competencies in medicine and healthcare into the development of both traditional and online learning environments This book serves as a reference for health sciences undergraduate and graduate faculty interested in learning about the latest health sciences educational principles and curriculum design practices This critical reference contains innovative chapters on transformative learning curriculum design and development the use of technology in healthcare training through hybrid and flipped classrooms specific pedagogies interprofessional education and more Continuing Your Professional Development in Lifelong Learning Angela Steward, 2010-06-01 New qualifications for those teaching and training in the FE sector became effective in September 2007 The reform of initial teacher training and the professionalisation of the workforce in the sector require a commitment to engage in continuing professional development The rationale for the book is contained in the argument that improvement of quality in teaching and learning in the sector is not achieved exclusively through short term external professional development and training activities Moreover it requires ongoing workplace learning which is long term in focus and practice orientated and work based In order to improve future practice it needs to be embedded in critical reflection and evaluation of workloads The purpose of the book is to introduce the notion that there is an opportunity for every teacher to develop their role through their workloads e g workloads are a vehicle for professional development Ways to achieve this are identified by exploring the practice of experienced and successful teachers The author then goes on to offers guidelines for promoting constructive practice which is using the outcomes of reflection in the workplace to achieve role development
