Reflection

You can see yourself in a mirror because waves of light are reflected. Reflect means to throw back. Reflection happens when a wave hits an object or surface and bounces off. Light waves from the Sun or a lightbulb bounce off of your face. The light waves hit the mirror and reflect back to your eyes. So you see your reflection in the mirror.

You can see your reflection in the smooth surface of a pond, too. But, if the water has ripples or waves, it is harder to see your reflection. You cannot see a sharp image when light reflects from an uneven surface like ripples on the water. This is because the reflected light goes in many different directions.

Refraction

A wave changes direction when it reflects from a surface. Waves can also change direction in another way. Have you ever tried to grab a sinking object in a swimming pool, but missed it? You were probably sure you grabbed right where it was. But, the light waves from the object changed direction when they moved from the water to the air. The bending of a wave as it moves from one medium to another is refraction.

What You'll Learn

Levee Overtopping Lin Li, Farshad Amini, Yi Pan, Saiyu Yuan, Bora Cetin, 2020-09-20 Earthen levees are extensively used to protect the population and infrastructure from periodic floods and high water due to storm surges The causes of failure of levees include overtopping surface erosion internal erosion and slope instability Overtopping may occur during periods of flooding due to insufficient freeboard The most problematic situation involves the levee being overtopped by both surge and waves when the surge level exceeds the levee crest elevation with accompanying wave overtopping. Overtopping of levees produces fast flowing turbulent water velocities on the landward side slope that can potentially damage the protective grass covering and expose the underlying soil to erosion. If overtopping continues long enough the erosion may eventually result in loss of levee crest elevation and possibly breaching of the protective structure. Hence protecting levees from erosion by surge overflow and wave overtopping is necessary to assure a viable and safe levee system. This book presents a cutting edge approach to understanding overtopping hydraulics under negative free board of earthen levees and to the study of levee reinforcing methods. Combining soil erosion test, full scale laboratory overtopping hydraulics test and numerical modeling for the turbulent overtopping hydraulics. It provides an analysis that integrates the mechanical and hydraulic processes governing levee overtopping occurrences and engineering approaches to reinforce overtopped levees. Topics covered: surge overflow, wave overtopping and their combination, full scale hydraulic tests, erosion tests, overtopping hydraulics, overtopping discharge and turbulent analysis. This is an invaluable resource for graduate students and researchers working on levee design, water resource engineering, hydraulic engineering and coastal engineering and for professionals in the field of civil and environmental engineering and natural hazard analysis.

Fibre Reinforced Concrete: From Design to Structural Applications FIB - International Federation for Structural Concrete, 2020-08-01. The first international FRC workshop supported by RILEM and ACI was held in Bergamo, Italy in 2004. At that time a lack of specific building codes and standards was identified as the main inhibitor to the application of this technology in engineering practice. The workshop aim was placed on the identification of applications, guidelines and research needs in order for this advanced technology to be transferred to professional practice. The second international FRC workshop held in Montreal, Canada in 2014 was the first ACI fib joint technical event. Many of the objectives identified in 2004 had been achieved by various groups of researchers who shared a common interest in extending the application of FRC materials into the realm of structural engineering and design. The aim of the workshop was to provide the State of the Art on the recent progress that had been made in terms of specifications and actual applications for buildings, underground structures and bridge projects worldwide. The rapid development of codes, the introduction of new materials and the growing interest of the construction industry suggested presenting this forum at closer intervals. In this context the third international FRC workshop was held in Desenzano, Italy four years after Montreal. In this first ACI fib RILEM joint technical event the maturity gained through the recent technological developments and large scale applications were used to show the acceptability of the concrete design using various fibre compositions. The growing interests of civil infrastructure owners in ultra high performance fibre reinforced concrete (UHPFRC) and synthetic fibres in structural applications bring new challenges in terms of concrete technology and design recommendations. In such a short period of time we have witnessed the proliferation of the use of fibres as structural reinforcement in various applications such as industrial floors, elevated slabs, precast tunnel lining sections, foundations as well as bridge decks We are now moving towards addressing many durability based design requirements by the use of fibres as well as the general serviceability based design However the possibility of having a residual tensile strength after cracking of the concrete matrix requires a new conceptual approach for a proper design of FRC structural elements With such a perspective in mind the aim of FRC2018 workshop was to provide the State of the Art on the recent progress in terms of specifications development actual applications and to expose users and researchers to the challenges in the design and construction of a wide variety of structural applications Considering that at the time of the first workshop in 2004 no structural codes were available on FRC we have to recognize the enormous work done by researchers all over the world who have presented at many FRC events and convinced code bodies to include FRC among the reliable alternatives for structural applications This will allow engineers to increasingly utilize FRC with confidence for designing safe and durable structures Many presentations also clearly showed that FRC is a promising material for efficient rehabilitation of existing infrastructure in a broad spectrum of repair applications These cases range from sustained gravity loads to harsh environmental conditions and seismic applications which are some of the broadest ranges of applications in Civil Engineering The workshop was attended by researchers designers owner and government representatives as well as participants from the construction and fibre industries The presence of people with different expertise provided a unique opportunity to share knowledge and promote collaborative efforts These interactions are essential for the common goal of making better and sustainable constructions in the near future The workshop was attended by about 150 participants coming from 30 countries Researchers from all the continents participated in the workshop including 24 Ph D students who brought their enthusiasm in FRC structural applications For this reason the workshop Co chairs sincerely thank all the enterprises that sponsored this event They also extend their appreciation for the support provided by the industry over the last 30 years which allowed research centers to study FRC materials and their properties and develop applications to making its use more routine and accepted throughout the world Their important contribution has been essential for moving the knowledge base forward Finally we appreciate the enormous support received from all three sponsoring organizations of ACI fib and Rilem and look forward to paving the path for future collaborations in various areas of common interest so that the developmental work and implementation of new specifications and design procedures can be expedited internationally
