Security And Global Health Dimensions Of Security:

Global Health Security Lawrence O. Gostin, 2021-09-28 With lessons learned from COVID 19 a world leading expert on pandemic preparedness proposes a pragmatic plan urgently needed for the future of global health security The COVID 19 pandemic revealed how unprepared the world was for such an event as even the most sophisticated public health systems failed to cope We must have far more investment and preparation along with better detection warning and coordination within and across national boundaries In an age of global pandemics no country can achieve public health on its own Health security planning is paramount Lawrence O Gostin has spent three decades designing resilient health systems and governance that take account of our interconnected world as a close advisor to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention CDC the World Health Organization WHO and many public health agencies globally Global Health Security addresses the borderless dangers societies now face including infectious diseases and bioterrorism and examines the political environmental and socioeconomic factors exacerbating these threats Weak governance ineffective health systems and lack of preparedness are key sources of risk and all of them came to the fore during the COVID 19 crisis even sometimes especially in wealthy countries like the United States But the solution is not just to improve national health policy which can only react after the threat is realized at home Gostin further proposes robust international institutions tools for effective cross border risk communication and action and research programs targeting the global dimension of public health Creating these systems will require not only sustained financial investment but also shared values of cooperation collective responsibility and equity Gostin has witnessed the triumph of these values in national and international forums and has a clear plan to tackle the challenges ahead Global Health Security therefore offers pragmatic solutions that address the failures of the recent past while looking toward what we know is coming Nothing could be more important to the future health of nations

Global Governance and Public Health Geoffrey B. Cockerham, 2018-09-13 Global health issues transcend national borders and state sovereignty As a result a collective response at the international level is necessary to effectively address these problems This response however is not simply based on medical expertise or technology but is largely dependent on politics Health has become inextricably linked to policies developed by global governance whether these policies involve the surveillance and the prevention of the spread of infectious disease across borders the distribution and consumption of goods that pose a health risk through international commerce the right to quality health for everyone or the protection of human health from climate change and environmental degradation International relations theories provide a key analytical tool for understanding the dynamics of the political process in global governance in addressing health issues in an increasingly globalized world Each chapter will features boxes highlighting case studies relevant to the material discussion questions and suggested readings International Regimes in Global Health Governance Jiyong Jin, 2021-03-30 By analysing the roles and problems faced by international regimes as major players in global health governance this book

Evaluation of FAO's country programme in Sierra Leone 2012-2019 Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations , The agriculture sector in Sierra Leone accounts for 60 percent of GDP and 58 percent of total employment More than 58 percent of the country's population live in rural areas and 86.1 percent of this population are engaged in smallholder subsistence agricultural production Ten years of civil conflict and the Ebola epidemic in 2014 negatively affected food security and the country's overall socio-economic situation The country is particularly vulnerable to extreme events such as food chain crises and natural hazards which have a direct impact on food security and livelihoods This evaluation aims to identify lessons learned and provide strategic recommendations on how FAO programmes can be better oriented in Sierra Leone FAO's overall contribution to developmental challenges was assessed in the priority areas defined in the CPFs covering 2012-16 and 2017-19 The evaluation comprised an examination of associated outcome areas related to support to smallholder commercialization natural resources management and effective response to disasters and increasing social productivity and resilience The review also evaluated crosscutting issues including gender equality and women's empowerment climate resilience nutrition capacity development and youth employment The evaluation used different methods to collect the views of the beneficiaries and other stakeholders such as structured focus group discussions structured key informant interviews direct observation and workshops The fieldwork took place with actors from projects across five districts Bo Bombali Kenema Kono and Port Loko The evaluation found evidence of significant and sustainable results in a range of areas of FAO's activities including policy related work from adoption of legislation to policy influence piloting of approaches and standards and regulatory frameworks Likewise results leading to livelihoods improvements empowerment and adoption of more sustainable organizational practices technologies and skills were found Nevertheless the programme failed to aggregate activities and interventions in a programmatic and coherent portfolio FAO's capacity to deliver sustainable and consistent results with strong partnerships and complementary action was often undermined by lack of or weak systems and functions FAO should use the development of the new CPF as a way to re-design its strategic footprint in the country and reach its full potential despite the limiting factors To do this FAO could consider adopting an area based approach implementing a programmatic multi stakeholder and cross sectoral adaptive approach based on regions districts
