Natos European Allies Military Capability And Political Will:

NATO's European Allies J. Matlary, M. Petersson, 2013-01-30 The question of burden sharing has always been important in NATO with an acute relevance today as the US will cut its defence budget over a ten year period and is no longer automatically willing to lead military operations This volume considers Europe's role in political force for the future exploring eight European case studies The Challenge of European Political Will Rachel Ellehuus, Seth G. Jones, 2022-09-02 In this follow on report to Europe's High End Military Challenges The Future of European Capabilities and Missions the CSIS Europe Russia and Eurasia Program and International Security Program examine the other side of the coin of European military effectiveness the political will of European countries to conduct military missions and operations The report identifies the endogenous and exogenous factors constraining or increasing political will and maps them onto six country case studies Four prototypes of political will emerged from the analysis global partners international activists constrained partners and minimalists The report then assesses the political will of European allies and partners to conduct fifteen types of military missions and operations worldwide from peacekeeping to large scale combat It concludes with a summary of key findings First it finds that internal and external factors such as strategic culture and alliance dependence respectively will continue to constrain European political will in many cases even after the Russian invasion of Ukraine Second European states are more likely to have the political will to engage in military missions at the lower end of the conflict spectrum such as maritime patrol missions and less likely at the higher ends of the spectrum except in cases of significant collective or national defense The future of NATO and European defence Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Defence Committee, 2008-03-20 This report is presented prior to the NATO Summit at Bucharest in April 2008 and examines the status of NATO in dealing with the security environment that exists in Europe today The situation in Afghanistan offers a key test of the strengths and failings of the NATO Alliance To bring stability and encourage development and reconstruction in this region requires a long term military and financial commitment on the part of the Alliance Failure in Afghanistan may diminish the effectiveness of NATO and undermine allied unity perhaps pushing the United States to question the purpose of NATO itself The Bucharest Summit will have to address a number of issues in respect of Afghanistan including the need to generate sufficient military forces to carry out operations NATO faces broader questions about its role and relevance in the 21st century and the Defence Committee believes it needs to launch a far reaching review of its strategic concept setting forth a future role and purpose NATO's willingness to fulfil a global role is critical to the continued support of the United States NATO has shortfalls across a range of specific military capabilities which are seen as compromising its ability to mount and sustain the expeditionary operations that underpin the Alliance The creation of the NATO Response Force is seen as representing a significant achievement but it needs to be financed out of NATO Common Funding The Committee states that NATO's biggest shortfall is a lack of political will where a large and growing gap exists between the United States and the European members in defence spending The Committee further states that the relationship between NATO and the EU is plagued by mistrust and characterised by unhealthy competition Improving communication and coordination between the two is seen as essential The Committee views NATO as indispensable to the Alliance

Policy, Troops, and the NATO Alliance Sam Nunn, 1974 NATO and the EU's European Security and Defense Policy United States. Congress. Senate. Committee on Foreign Relations. Subcommittee on European Affairs, 2000

Theorising NATO Mark Webber, Adrian Hyde-Price, 2015-11-19 Scholarship on NATO is often preoccupied with key episodes in the development of the organisation and so for the most part has remained inattentive to theory This book addresses that gap in the literature It provides a comprehensive analysis of NATO through a range of theoretical perspectives that includes realism liberalism and constructivism and lesser known approaches centred on learning public goods securitisation and risk Focusing on NATO's post Cold War development it considers the conceptualisation purpose and future of the Alliance This book will be of interest to students and scholars of international organisation international relations security and European Politics

The Nations of NATO Thierry Tardy, 2022-10-20 War has returned to Europe and NATO stands at the forefront of the response to Russia's aggression in Ukraine But how does NATO function How do NATO member states perceive and act through the Atlantic Alliance And ultimately how do states shape NATO's cohesion and relevance in the face of threats The Nations of NATO explores national policies within the Atlantic Alliance It examines the foreign policies of 16 allies focusing on issues such as their strategic cultures relationship with the United States contributions to NATO operations levels of defence spending domestic challenges and decision making processes The recent crisis in Ukraine has without doubt reinvigorated NATO as a military alliance but over the last decade it has also been affected by a number of challenges both endogenous and exogenous Whether the Alliance is threatened from the outside Russia terrorism China or is being undermined from within intra Alliance politics diverging threat perceptions has become an increasingly debated issue The degree to which the Alliance can adapt to evolving threats has also been at stake At the heart of these debates are NATO allies policies preferences threat perceptions and level of commitment to the shared enterprise By analysing the drivers constraints and specificities of relevant national policies the volume offers an overview of NATO's contemporary functions and challenges and constitutes an important source of data for future research and comparative analysis

The Handbook of European Defence Policies and Armed Forces Hugo Meijer, Marco Wyss, 2018-06-22 The armed forces of Europe have undergone a dramatic transformation since the collapse of the Soviet Union The Handbook of European Defence Policies and Armed Forces provides the first comprehensive analysis of national security and defence policies strategies doctrines capabilities and military operations as well as the alliances and partnerships of European armed forces in response to the security challenges Europe has faced since the end of the cold war A truly cross European comparison of the evolution of national defence policies and armed forces remains a notable blind spot in the existing literature The Handbook of European Defence

Policies and Armed Forces aims to fill this gap with fifty one contributions on European defence and international security from around the world The six parts focus on country based assessments of the evolution of the national defence policies of Europe s major medium and lesser powers since the end of the cold war the alliances and security partnerships developed by European states to cooperate in the provision of national security the security challenges faced by European states and their armed forces ranging from interstate through intra state and transnational the national security strategies and doctrines developed in response to these challenges the military capabilities and the underlying defence and technological industrial base brought to bear to support national strategies and doctrines and finally the national or multilateral military operations by European armed forces The contributions to The Handbook collectively demonstrate the fruitfulness of giving analytical precedence back to the comparative study of national defence policies and armed forces across Europe
