Nature Human Nature And Human Difference Race In Early Modern Philosophy:

Nature, Human Nature, & Human Difference Justin E. H. Smith, 2015-06-30 People have always been xenophobic but an explicit philosophical and scientific view of human racial difference only began to emerge during the modern period Why and how did this happen Surveying a range of philosophical and natural scientific texts dating from the Spanish Renaissance to the German Enlightenment Nature Human Nature and Human Difference charts the evolution of the modern concept of race and shows that natural philosophy particularly efforts to taxonomize and to order nature played a crucial role Smith demonstrates how the denial of moral equality between Europeans and non Europeans resulted from converging philosophical and scientific developments including a declining belief in human nature's universality and the rise of biological classification The racial typing of human beings grew from the need to understand humanity within an all encompassing system of nature alongside plants minerals primates and other animals While racial difference as seen through science did not arise in order to justify the enslavement of people it became a rationalization and buttress for the practices of trans Atlantic slavery From the work of Francois Bernier to G W Leibniz Immanuel Kant and others Smith delves into philosophy's part in the legacy and damages of modern racism With a broad narrative stretching over two centuries Nature Human Nature and Human Difference takes a critical historical look at how the racial categories that we divide ourselves into came into being

Historicizing Race Marius Turda, Maria Sophia Quine, 2018-02-22 The idea of race may be outdated as many commentators and scholars working in a broad range of different fields in the sciences and humanities have argued over many years Nevertheless it remains one of the most persistent forms of human classification Theories of race primitivism the idea that there is a natural racial hierarchy and ranking order of inferior and superior races race biologism the belief that people can be classified by genetic features which are shared by members of racial groups and race essentialism the notion that races can be defined by scientifically identifiable and verifiable cultural and physical characteristics are deeply embedded in modern history culture and politics Historicizing Race offers a new understanding of this reality by exploring the interconnectedness of scientific cultural and political strands of racial thought in Europe and elsewhere It reconceptualises the idea of race by unearthing various historical traditions that continue to inform not only current debates about individual and collective identities but also national and international politics In a concise format accessible to students and scholars alike the authors draw out some of the reasons why race centred thinking has in recent years re emerged in such shocking and explicit form in current populist xenophobic and anti immigration movements

Problem of Nature in Hegel's Final System Wes Furlotte, 2018-07-02 Wes Furlotte critically evaluates Hegel's philosophy of human freedom in terms of his often disregarded conception of nature In doing so he gives us a new portrait of Hegel's final system that is surprisingly relevant for our contemporary world connecting it with recent work in speculative realism and new materialism

The Primate Myth Jonathan Leaf, 2025-10-21 Challenging everything we thought we knew this book takes a revolutionary look at how humans are far less like other primates than we've been led to believe and uncovers what truly sets us apart. Humans are primates much like chimps or so we've been continually told. Yet recent discoveries show that our species has a different brain design, function, and chemistry; different eating, sleeping, mating, and rearing patterns; a different metabolism and a different physiology than apes. Nor is our behavior much like theirs, and we don't even have the feet made for climbing trees that define the primate order. Could it be that conceiving of ourselves as primates isn't helping us understand what it is to be human? By examining the latest research in neuroscience and genetics, we are propelled toward a radically different conception of our nature. In this way, we can begin to grasp the distinctively human dimensions of war, murder, suicide, and homosexuality, along with our fascinations with subjects like sports, politics, and fashion. Here is the path by which to understand our species' essential problems and uncover the answers for how we should live our lives.

Kant and the Feeling of Life Jennifer Mensch, 2024-08-01 Kant and the Feeling of Life positions Kant's concept of life as a guiding thread for understanding not only Kant's approach to aesthetics and teleology but the underlying unity of the Critique of Judgment itself. The feeling of life, which Kant describes as affecting us in various ways as animating, enlivening, and quickening the mind, lies at the heart of Kant's philosophical project, but it has remained understudied for a theme of such centrality. This volume brings together for the first time essays focused on the topic of life in Kant's work, providing a wealth of perspectives and analyses ranging from the Critique of Judgment to Kant's early aesthetics, his social and political philosophy, his work connected to the body and health, and his moral theory.

Hybrid Hate Tudor Parfitt, 2020 The study of western racism has tended to concentrate either on the hatred and murder of Jews or the hatred and enslavement of black people. As chief objects of racism, Jews and Blacks have been linked together for centuries, peoples apart from the general run of humanity. In medieval Europe, Jews were often perceived as Blacks, and the conflation of Jews and Blacks continued throughout the period of the Enlightenment. With the discovery of a community of Black Jews in Loango in west Africa in 1777 and later of black Jews in India, the Middle East, and other parts of Africa, the figure of the hybrid black Jew was thrust into the maelstrom of evolving theories about race hierarchies and taxonomies. The new hybrid played a particular role in the great battle between monogenists and polygenists as they sought to establish the unitary or disparate origins of humankind. From the mid-nineteenth century to the period of the Third Reich, Jews and Blacks were increasingly conflated in a racist discourse which combined the two fundamental racial hatreds of the west. While Hitler considered Jews Negroid parasites in Nazi Germany, as in Fascist Italy, through texts, laws, and cartoons, Jews and Blacks were combined in the figure of the Black Jew, the mortal foe of the Aryan race.

The Equality of Flesh Brent Dawson, 2024-06-15 The Equality of Flesh traces a new genealogy of equality before its formalization under liberalism. While modern ideas of equality are defined through an inner human nature, Brent Dawson argues that the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries conceptualized equality as an ambivalent and profoundly bodily condition. Everyone was made from the same lowly matter, and as a result, shared the same set of vulnerabilities, needs, and passions Responding to the political upheavals of colonialism and the intellectual turmoil of new natural philosophies leading figures of the English Renaissance including Edmund Spenser and William Shakespeare anxiously imagined that bodily commonality might undermine differences of religion race and class As the period progressed later authors developed the revolutionary possibilities of bodily equality even as new ideas of fixed racial inequality emerged Some like the utopian radical Gerrard Winstanley and the republican poet John Milton challenged political absolutism through the idea of humans as base embodied creatures Others like the heterodox philosopher Margaret Cavendish the French theologian Isaac La Peyrre and the libertine Cyrano de Bergerac offered limited yet important interrogations of racial paradigms This moment Dawson shows would pass as bodily equality was marginalized in the liberal theories of John Locke and Thomas Hobbes In its place during the Enlightenment pseudoscientific racism would come to anchor inequality in the body Contending with the lasting implications of material equality for modernity The Equality of Flesh shows how increasingly vehement notions of racial difference eclipsed a nascent sense of human commonality rooted in the basic stuff of life

A Companion to Religious Minorities in Early Modern Rome Matthew Coneys Wainwright, Emily Michelson, 2020-12-15 A Companion to Religious Minorities in Early Modern Rome investigates the lives and stories of the many groups and individuals in Rome between 1500 and approximately 1750 who were not Roman Latin Catholic It shows how early modern Catholic people and institutions in Rome were directly influenced by their interactions with other religious traditions This collection reveals the significant impact of Protestants Muslims Jews and Eastern Rite Christians the influence of the many transient groups and individual travelers who passed through the city the unique contributions of converts to Catholicism who drew on the religion of their birth and the importance of intermediaries fluent in more than one culture and religion Contributors include Olivia Adankpo Labadie Robert John Clines Matthew Coneys Wainwright Serena Di Nepi Irene Fosi Mayu Fujikawa Sam Kennerley Emily Michelson James Nelson Novoa Cesare Santus Piet van Boxel and Justine A Walden

The Oxford Handbook of Philosophy and Race Naomi Zack, 2017 The Oxford Handbook of Philosophy and Race provides up to date explanation and analyses by leading scholars in African American philosophy and philosophy of race Fifty one original essays cover major topics from intellectual history to contemporary social controversies in this emerging philosophical subfield that supports demographic inclusion and emphasizes cultural relevance

A Cultural History of Race in the Reformation and Enlightenment Nicholas Hudson, 2023-06-01 The period between the 16th and 18th centuries witnessed the expansion of European travel trade and colonization around the globe resulting in greatly increased contact between Westerners and peoples throughout the rest of the world With the rise of print and the commercial book market Europeans avidly consumed reports of the outside world and its various peoples often in distorted or fictional forms With the consolidation of new empirical science and taxonomy prejudice against peoples of different colours and cultures during the 16th and 17th centuries became more systematic giving rise to the doctrines of race science Although humanitarianism and the idea of human rights also flourished inspiring the campaign to abolish the slave trade this movement did not hinder imperialist expansion and the belief that humans could be ranked in a hierarchy that authorized White domination The essays in this volume trace the complex pattern of intellectual and cultural change from popular bigotry in the Age of Shakespeare to the racial categories developed in the works of Buffon and Kant These essays also link changes in racial thinking to other trends during this age The development of modern ideas of race corresponded with emerging conceptions of the nation state new acceptance of religious diversity became linked with speculations on racial diversity transforming ideologies of gender and sexuality overlapped in crucial ways with developing racial attitudes In many ways the period between the Reformation and Enlightenment laid the foundations for modern racial thinking generating issues and conflicts that still haunt us today
