Middle East and Central Asia Dept., 2016-07-27 This 2016 Article IV Consultation highlights that non oil economic activity in the United Arab Emirates slowed to 3.7 percent in 2015 Negative effects on overall growth were partially offset by the increase in oil production Despite the strong fiscal policy response to adjust to lower oil prices the fiscal balance turned to a deficit of 2.1 percent of GDP while the current account surplus declined to 3.3 percent of GDP Banks remained well capitalized and liquid though pressures on profitability are emerging as asset quality weakens owing to the economic slowdown and rising funding costs Economic activity is expected to moderate further in 2016 before improving over the medium term Inside Inequality in the Arab Republic of Egypt Paolo Verme, Branko Milanovic, Sherine Al-Shawarby, Sahar El Tawila, May Gadallah, Enas Ali A.El-Majeed, 2014-04-16 This book joins four papers prepared in the framework of the Egypt inequality study financed by the World Bank The first paper prepared by Sherine Al Shawarby reviews the studies on inequality in Egypt since the 1950s with the double objective of illustrating the importance attributed to inequality through time and of presenting and compare the main published statistics on inequality To our knowledge this is the first time that such a comprehensive review is carried The second paper prepared by Branko Milanovic turns to the global and spatial dimensions of inequality The objective here is to put Egypt inequality in the global context and better understand the origin and size of spatial inequalities within Egypt using different forms of measurement across regions and urban and rural areas The Egyptian society remains deeply divided across space and in terms of welfare and this study unveils some of the hidden features of this inequality The third paper prepared by Paolo Verme studies facts and perceptions of inequality during the period 2000-2009 the period that preceded the Egyptian revolution The objective of this part is to provide some initial elements that could explain the apparent mismatch between inequality measured with household surveys and inequality aversion measured by values surveys No such study has been carried out before in the Middle East and North Africa MENA region and this seemed a particular important and timely topic to address in the light of the unfolding developments in the Arab region The fourth paper prepared by Sahar El Tawila May Gadallah and Enas Ali A El Majeed assesses the state of poverty and inequality among the poorest villages of Egypt The paper attempts to explain the level of inequality in an effort to disentangle those factors that derive from household abilities from those factors that derive from local opportunities This is the first time that such study is conducted in Egypt The book should be of interest to any observer of the political and economic evolution of the Arab region in the past few years and to poverty and inequality specialists that wish to have a deeper understanding of the distribution of incomes in Egypt and other countries in the MENA region Routledge Library Editions: Jordan Various Authors,2021-03-11 Routledge

Transition - Economic Outlook and Key Challenges - Deauville Partnership Ministerial Meeting International Monetary Fund,2013-04-19 Arab Countries in Transition ACTs continue to face high political uncertainty and social pressures The uprisings and protests have generated the promise of a better life for 300 million people but forthcoming elections and constitutional reform as well as populations anxious for jobs and higher incomes complicate policymaking for many governments At the same time fiscal and reserves buffers have diminished sharply underscoring the urgent need to maintain macroeconomic stability in an environment of sluggish global growth high commodity prices and still impaired domestic confidence Resolute policy action and support from the international community are required particularly as last year s subdued growth in the ACTs except Libya is expected to improve only slightly in 2013 and is overshadowed by persistent external and regional risks. It will be equally important for policymakers to move quickly on designing and implementing effective structural reforms to build dynamic and inclusive economies that generate many more jobs than are available today. Promoting private sector growth and international trade as well as attracting foreign direct investment inflows will be key components of success. Financial assistance and technical expertise from external partners including Transition Fund projects can make a big difference in this endeavor.
