Preserving The Old Dominion Historic Preservation And Virginia Traditionalism:

Preserving the Old Dominion James Michael Lindgren, 1993 In 1889 tradition minded women including many from Virginia's most prominent families formed the Association for the Preservation of Virginia Antiquities APVA the first state preservation organization in the United States And where better After all who else could so readily claim both colonial and Confederate heritage both Jamestown and the White House of the Confederacy In Preserving the Old Dominion cultural historian James Lindgren shows how the preservation movement strove to rebuild a revered past upon the foundations of its historic structures While vividly capturing entertaining incidents white gloved pilgrimages a Richmond costume ball even a search for a Jamestown Rock to set back those arriviste New Englanders and introducing battling often with each other preservationists Lindgren also explores the serious consequences of these sometimes amusing efforts He shows how the reinvention of the past shaped contemporary Virginia and the South In a very real sense the battle between North and South was replayed at the end of the nineteenth century in a contest to control the nation's past The AVPA's significance lies not only in the fact that it played a major role in the resurgence of conservatism in the late nineteenth century South but that it fits into a larger American picture where tradition minded Americans tapped their history whether imagined or real to shape their identity Preserving the Old Dominion incorporates history anthropology architecture archaeology religion and politics it will be of interest to historians in all fields as well as women's studies scholars Giving Preservation a History Randall F.

Mason, Max Page, 2004-08-02 In this volume some of the best figures in the field have come together to write on preservation movements across the country from New York to Atlanta to Santa Fe and others Giving Preservation a History also touches on the European roots of the historic preservation movement on how preservation movements have taken a leading role in shaping American urban space and urban development how historic preservation battles have reflected broader social forces and what the changing nature of historic preservation means for the effort to preserve the nation's past Restoring Women's History Through Historic Preservation Gail Lee Dubrow, Jennifer B. Goodman, 2003-01-28 This essay collection draws upon work presented at three national conferences on women and historic preservation held at Bryn Mawr College in 1994 Arizona State University in 1997 and at Mount Vernon College in 2000 Heritage Conservation in the United States

John H. Sprinkle, Jr., 2023-05-25 Heritage Conservation in the United States begins to trace the growth of the American historic preservation movement over the last 50 years viewed from the context of the civil rights and environmental movements The first generation of the New Preservation 1966 1991 was characterized by the establishment of the bureaucratic structures that continue to shape the practice of heritage conservation in the United States The National Register of Historic Places began with less than a thousand historic properties and grew to over 50 000 listings Official recognition programs expanded causing sites that would never have been considered as either significant or physically representative in 1966 now being regularly considered as part of a historic preservation planning process The book uses the story of how sites associated with African American history came to be officially recognized and valued and how that process challenged the conventions and criteria that governed American preservation practice This book is designed for the historic preservation community and students engaged in the study of historic preservation Historic Preservation Resources, 1994

Historic Preservation for a Living City Robert R. Weyeneth, 2000 This text charts the changing philosophy of the American preservation movement since the 1950s It traces the Historic Charleston Foundation's approach to preservation from the organization's establishment to its concerns with the conservation of rural spaces and building craft traditions

Preserving South Street Seaport James M Lindgren, 2019-08-27 Preserving South Street Seaport tells the fascinating story from the 1960s to the present of the South Street Seaport District of Lower Manhattan Home to the original Fulton Fish Market and then the South Street Seaport Museum it is one of the last neighborhoods of late 18th and early 19th century New York City not to be destroyed by urban development In 1988 South Street Seaport became the city's 1 destination for visitors Featuring over 40 archival and contemporary black and white photographs this is the first history of a remarkable historic district and maritime museum Lindgren skillfully tells the complex story of this unique cobblestoned neighborhood Comprised of deteriorating 4 5 story buildings in what was known as the Fulton Fish Market the neighborhood was earmarked for the erection of the World Trade Center until New Jersey forced its placement one mile westward After Penn Station's demolition had angered many New York citizens preservationists mobilized in 1966 to save this last piece of Manhattan's old port and recreate its fabled 19th century Street of Ships The South Street Seaport and the World Trade Center became the yin and yang of Lower Manhattan's rebirth In an unprecedented move City Hall designated the museum as developer of the twelve block urban renewal district However the Seaport Museum whose membership became the largest of any history museum in the city was never adequately funded and it suffered with the real estate collapse of 1972 The city bankers and state bought the museum's fifty buildings and leased them back at terms that crippled the museum financially That led to the controversial construction of the Rouse Company's New Fulton Market 1983 and Pier 17 mall 1985 Lindgren chronicles these years of struggle as the defenders of the people oriented museum and historic district tried to save the original streets and buildings and the largest fleet of historic ships in the country from the schemes of developers bankers politicians and even museum administrators Though the Seaport Museum's finances were always tenuous the neighborhood and the museum were improving until the tragedy of 9 11 But the prolonged recovery brought on dysfunctional museum managers and indifference if not hostility from City Hall Superstorm Sandy then dealt a crushing blow Today the future of this pioneering museum designated by Congress as America's National Maritime Museum is in doubt as its waterfront district is eyed by powerful commercial developers While Preserving South Street Seaport reveals the pitfalls of privatizing urban renewal developing museum corporate partnerships and introducing a professional regimen over a people's movement it also tells the story of how a seedy decrepit piece of waterfront became a wonderful venue for all New Yorkers and visitors from around the world to enjoy This book will appeal to a wide audience of readers in the history and practice of museums historic preservation urban history and urban development and contemporary New York City This book is supported by a grant from Furthermore a program of the J M Kaplan Fund

Race and Masculinity in Southern Memory Matthew Mace Barbee, 2013-12-05 In Race and Masculinity in Southern Memory Matthew Mace Barbee explores the long history of Richmond Virginia's iconic Monument Avenue As a network of important memorials to Confederate leaders located in the former capitol of the Confederacy Monument Avenue has long been central to the formation of public memory in Virginia and the U S South It has also been a site of multiple controversies over what who and how Richmond's past should be commemorated This book traces the evolution of Monument Avenue by analyzing public discussions of its memorials and their meaning It pays close attention to the origins of Monument Avenue and the first statues erected there including memorials to Robert E Lee and Jefferson Davis Barbee provides a detailed and focused analysis of the evolution of Monument Avenue and public memory in Richmond from 1948 to 1996 through the Civil Rights Movement and the Civil War Centennial and up to the memorial to Arthur Ashe erected in 1996 An African American native of Richmond Ashe was an international tennis champion and advocate for human rights The story of how a monument to him ended up in a space previously reserved for statues of Confederate leaders helps us understand the ways Richmond has grappled with its past especially the histories of slavery Jim Crow and Civil Rights

Boston's "changeable Times" Michael Holleran, 2001 He describes subdivision design innovations and the use of deed restrictions limits on building heights and neighborhood zoning protection to control ever increasing urban growth

A New Deal for Southeastern Archaeology Edwin A. Lyon, 1996 Utilizing primary sources that include correspondence and unpublished reports Lyon demonstrates the great importance of the New Deal projects in the history of southeastern and North American archaeology New Deal archaeology transformed the practice of archaeology in the Southeast and created the basis for the discipline that exists today
