Public Investment Management Reference Guide Jay-Hyung Kim, Jonas Arp Fallov, Simon Groom, 2020-03-03 The Public Investment Management PIM Reference Guide aims to convey country experiences and good international practices as a basis for decisions on how to address a country specific PIM reform agenda The country references are drawn largely from previous diagnostics and technical assistance reports of the World Bank The application of country diagnostics and assessments has revealed a need to address the following issues when undertaking a country reform in PIM Clarification of the definition and scope of public investment and public investment management Establishment of a sound legal regulatory and institutional setting for PIM making sure it is linked to the budget process Allocation of roles and responsibilities for key players in PIM across government Strengthening of guidance on project preappraisal appraisal and selection prioritization procedures and deepening of project appraisal methodologies Integration of strategic planning project appraisal selection and capital budgeting Management of multiyear capital budget allocations and commitments Efforts to address effective implementation procurement and monitoring of projects Strengthening of asset management and ex post evaluation Integration of PIM and public private partnership PPP in a unified framework Rationalization and prioritization of the existing PIM project portfolio Development of a PIM database and information technology in the form of a PIM information system The PIM Reference Guide does not seek to provide definitive answers or standard guidance for the common PIM issues facing countries Nor does it seek to provide a detailed template for replication across countries this would be impossible given the diversity of country situations Instead each chapter begins with an overview of the specific reform issue lists approaches and experiences from different countries and summarizes the references and good practices to be considered in designing country specific reform actions

Transportation Development Process Robert P. Mickelson, National Cooperative Highway Research Program, 1998 This synthesis presents information on current practices used by transportation agencies to complete the transportation development process TDP This process involves linking the planning project development environmental design construction operations and maintenance aspects of the overall transportation program The purpose of the TDP is to implement a seamless process in which all these elements come together and in which there is continuous public involvement This report will be of interest to regional and state transportation planning and environmental agencies who participate in the TDP and who are involved in both the development and policy aspects of the TDP This report of the Transportation Research Board describes the history of the TDP as well as the federal requirements that must be met under both transportation and environmental regulations This process is made more complex by state and local regulations that must be observed in most jurisdictions Throughout this process as carried out by the state transportation agencies and the metropolitan planning organizations there is continuous public involvement Other programs such as the transportation implementation plan state transportation implementation plan and environmental programs such as the National Environmental Policy Act the Clean Air Act Amendments of 1990 and requirements of other environmental laws must be integrated into the TDP The complexities of this process are described and some unique approaches to meeting its demands are presented
