Process Mining In Healthcare Process Mining In Healthcare:

Process Mining in Healthcare Ronny S. Mans, Wil M. P. van der Aalst, Rob J. B. Vanwersch, 2015-03-12 What are the possibilities for process mining in hospitals In this book the authors provide an answer to this question by presenting a healthcare reference model that outlines all the different classes of data that are potentially available for process mining in healthcare and the relationships between them Subsequently based on this reference model they explain the application opportunities for process mining in this domain and discuss the various kinds of analyses that can be performed They focus on organizational healthcare processes rather than medical treatment processes The combination of event data and process mining techniques allows them to analyze the operational processes within a hospital based on facts thus providing a solid basis for managing and improving processes within hospitals To this end they also explicitly elaborate on data quality issues that are relevant for the data aspects of the healthcare reference model This book mainly targets advanced professionals involved in areas related to business process management business intelligence data mining and business process redesign for healthcare systems as well as graduate students specializing in healthcare information systems and process analysis

They stem from the following workshops: 3rd International Workshop on Event Data and Behavioral Analytics (EDBA), 3rd International Workshop on Leveraging Machine Learning in Process Mining (ML4PM), 3rd International Workshop on Responsible Process Mining (RPM) previously known as Trust, Privacy and Security Aspects in Process Analytics, 5th International Workshop on Process Oriented Data Science for Healthcare (PODS4H), 3rd International Workshop on Streaming Analytics for Process Mining (SA4PM), 7th International Workshop on Process Querying, Manipulation and Intelligence (PQMI), 1st International Workshop on Education meets Process Mining (EduPM), 1st International Workshop on Data Quality and Transformation in Process Mining (DQT-PM).

Process Mining Techniques for Managing and Improving Healthcare Systems Maha Zayoud, 2023-06-26. This book discusses a new process mining method along with a detailed comparison between different techniques that provide a complete vision of the process of data acquisition, data analysis and data prediction. Process Mining Techniques for Managing and Improving Healthcare Systems offers a new framework for process learning which is probabilistic and enables the process to be learned in an accumulative manner. The steps of prediction modeling and building the required knowledge are highlighted throughout the book along with a strong emphasis on the correlation between the healthcare domain and technology including the different aspects such as managing records, information and procedures, early detection of diseases and the improvement of accuracy in choosing the right treatment procedures. This reference provides a wealth of knowledge for practitioners, researchers and students at the basic and intermediary levels working within the healthcare system, computer science, electronics and communications as well as medical providers and also hospital management entities.
