Person-Centered Health Records James E. Demetriades, Robert M. Kolodner, Gary A. Christopherson, 2006-12-22 Person Centered Health Records Toward HealthPeople provides essential information on person centered healthcare systems that will serve individuals throughout their lifetime enabling a new approach to wellness that goes far beyond outpatient visits to the physician's office or hospitalizations. These health systems represent a profound transformation from the present healthcare system because they will enable individuals to protect and promote their own personal health. The center of the healthcare system will be those individuals not the entities such as hospitals or physician groups. And the circle will encompass the full range of activities that contribute to wellness and to fighting disease not just those services traditionally defined as healthcare. The book consists of three important sections. Section I addresses how the new person centered system will change the way individuals care for their own health giving them health records that accompany them throughout their lives across the full range of experiences that affect their health. Section II lays out considerations involved in building new systems including the need to address human factors such as control and ownership and the difficulties involved in relearning and learning to function in changed workflow environments. The third section focuses on approaches to transformation including focuses on delivering change open source health systems critical standards convergence and person centered systems now in place outside the United States. Chapter highlights include Clinical Impact Human Factors Health Security and Privacy Critical Standards Convergence and much more. To represent the book's depth and breadth the editors have brought together contributors from varied health care sectors in the United States and elsewhere public and private not for profit and for profit to explicate the concept of the electronic health record and to define the technological enablers that can make it a reality. The editors describe the concept involved in transformation define the architectural issues and tools involved in building new person centered systems and describe the approaches that make it possible to integrate concept architecture and tools into person centered health systems. Person Centered Health Records Toward HealthPeople is a must have for those with an interest in person centered health systems that can be built using the Web and Web based tools. Both business and technical leaders will benefit from reading this book. Person-Centered Health Records Gary A. Christopherson, 2005-03-03 Divided into three sections for easy use including examples from person centered systems already in place in the US. Editors have brought together contributors from varied health care sectors in the United States and elsewhere public and private not for profit and for profit. Using Person-Centered Health Analytics to Live Longer Dwight McNeill, 2015-03-19 The American way of producing health is failing. It continues to rank very low among developed countries on our most vital need to live a long and healthy life. Despite the well intentioned actions on the part of government life sciences and technology the most important resource for achieving our full health potential is ourselves. This book is about how you can do so and how others can help you. Dwight McNeill introduces person centered health analytics pchA and shows how you can use it to master five everyday behaviors that cause and perpetuate most chronic diseases Using Person Centered Health Analytics to Live Longer combines deep insight a comprehensive framework and practical tools for living longer and healthier lives It offers a clear path forward for both individuals and stakeholders including providers payers health promotion companies technology innovators government and analytics practitioners Universal Access in Human-Computer Interaction: Aging and Assistive Environments Constantine Stephanidis, Margherita Antona, 2014-05-15 The four volume set LNCS 8513 8516 constitutes the refereed proceedings of the 8th International Conference on Universal Access in Human Computer Interaction UAHCI 2014 held as part of the 16th International Conference on Human Computer Interaction HCII 2014 held in Heraklion Crete Greece in June 2014 jointly with 14 other thematically similar conferences The total of 1476 papers and 220 posters presented at the HCII 2014 conferences was carefully reviewed and selected from 4766 submissions These papers address the latest research and development efforts and highlight the human aspects of design and use of computing systems The papers thoroughly cover the entire field of human computer interaction addressing major advances in knowledge and effective use of computers in a variety of application areas The total of 251 contributions included in the UAHCI proceedings were carefully reviewed and selected for inclusion in this four volume set The 75 papers included in this volume are organized in the following topical sections design for aging health and rehabilitation applications accessible smart and assistive environments assistive robots and mobility navigation and safety Medical Informatics 20/20: Quality and Electronic Health Records Through Collaboration, Open Solutions, and Innovation Douglas Goldstein, Peter J. Empowerment in Healthcare Maria Adela Grando, Ronen Rozenblum, David Bates, 2015-03-30 Aims and Scope Patients are more empowered to shape their own health care today than ever before Health information technologies are creating new opportunities for patients and families to participate actively in their care manage their medical problems and improve communication with their healthcare providers Moreover health information technologies are enabling healthcare providers to partner with their patients in a bold effort to optimize quality of care improve health outcomes and transform the healthcare system on the macro level In this book leading figures discuss the existing needs challenges and opportunities for improving patient engagement and empowerment through health information technology mapping out what has been accomplished and what work remains to truly transform the care we deliver and engage patients in their care Policymakers healthcare providers and administrators consultants and industry managers researchers and students and not least patients and their family members should all find value in this book In the exciting period that lies just ahead more will be needed than simply connecting patients to clinicians and clinicians to each other The health care systems that will be most effective in meeting patients needs will be those that can actually design their human wares around that purpose This book provides deep insight into how information technology can and will support that redesign Thomas H Lee MD MSc Chief Medical Officer Press Ganey Associates Professor of Medicine Harvard Medical School and Professor of Health Policy and Management Harvard School of Public Health The Editors Drs Maria Adela Grando Ronen Rozenblum and David W Bates are widely recognized professors researchers and experts in the domain of health information technology patient engagement and empowerment Their research lectures and contributions in these domains have been recognized nationally and internationally Dr Grando is affiliated with Arizona State University and the Mayo Clinic and Drs Rozenblum and Bates are affiliated with Brigham and Women s Hospital and Harvard University

ICTs for Inclusive Communities in Developing Societies Darelle van Greunen, Jacques Steyn, 2015-11-25 Several decades of international aid predominantly granted by the highly developed world the haves for the use of ICT in developing regions known by several labels such as the have nots bottom of the pyramid the south or some time ago the third world have passed but the holy grail of turning these societies into the ideals defined by the donors is still elusive Previously the emphasis was on top down approaches in this endeavour Now priority is increasingly given to bottom up approaches putting the targeted communities first using methods such as co creation and living labs Information and Communication Technologies for Development ICT4D is still a domain in search of a common ground The many different perspectives from diverse ideologies paradigms and theoretical perspectives here lead to an interesting debate but meanwhile agents of social change are doing their best to change communities ostensibly for the better An ongoing endeavour this discussion requires further investigation of the complexities of techno societies The contributions to this volume range from explorations of theory models and methods to investigations into the practical implementation of ICT in communities covering the characteristics of social groups and different generations and gender issues as well as its applications in education and health As such the contributions in this book will inform continuing debates concerning the role of ICT in developing communities on the wrong side of all the technical and social divides in human societies
