Hearings, Reports and Prints of the Senate Special Committee on Aging United States. Congress. Senate. Special Committee on Aging, 1969 State and Local Pension Fund Management Jun Peng, 2008-08-21 Intense media coverage of the public pension funding crisis continues to fuel heightened awareness in and debate over public pension benefits With over 3 trillion in assets currently under management the ramifications of poor oversight are severe It is important that practitioners researchers and taxpayers be well advised regarding any concern Pensions at a Glance 2017 OECD and G20 Indicators OECD, 2017-12-05 The 2017 edition of Pensions at a Glance highlights the pension reforms undertaken by OECD countries over the last two years Moreover one special chapter focuses on flexible retirement options in OECD countries and discusses people s preferences regarding flexible retirement Forums on Federal Pensions: Program options United States. Committee on Military Affairs, 1928 A Generation of Change Jacob S. Siegel, 1993-02-18 A Generation of Change is an exceptional study of the nation s elderly a population that has undergone profound changes in the years since World War II As modern medicine extends the average life span and the baby boom generation begins to approach middle age the number of older Americans is expected to more than double in the next century Currently 75 percent of U S health care expenditures go toward the elderly But as national trends toward early retirement and low birthrate continue an aging

American population could face crises in meeting their financial and physical needs According to Jacob S Siegel in A Generation of Change astute public planning must be informed by an understanding of the demographic social and economic characteristics of the older population as it is today and as it will be in the coming years Siegel employs census and survey data from 1950 through the mid 1980s to describe a population constantly shifting in its ethnic and gender composition geographic distribution marital and living arrangements health employment and economic status Surprisingly there is tremendous disparity in the quality of life among the elderly Although their average poverty rate is below that of the general population there are dramatic levels of poverty among older women who are far more likely than men to live alone or in institutions As the elderly progress from the young old to the aged old those over 85 sharp differences emerge as income and employment decrease and degrees of chronic illness increase In addition residential location influences the quality of health care and public assistance available to the elderly an effect that may account for the marked migration of older people to Florida and Arizona Siegel analyzes the full range of characteristics for this heterogeneous population and through comparisons with other age groups as well as with the elderly of the previous decades portrays the crucial influence of social and economic conditions over the life course on the quality of later life With our elderly population growing more numerous and long lived accurate information about them is increasingly essential A Generation of Change will serve as a valuable resource for policymakers seeking more effective solutions in critical areas such as housing long term health care and the funding of Social Security and retirement programs A Volume in the Russell Sage Foundation Census Series Handbook of Behavioural Change and Public Policy Holger Straßheim, Silke Beck, 2019 Behavioural change has become a core issue of public policy Behavioural instruments such as nudging apply insights from behavioural economics and behavioural sciences psychology and neurosciences across a broad range of policy areas Behavioural insights teams and networks facilitate the global spread of behavioural public policies Despite an ever growing amount of literature research has remained fragmented This comprehensive Handbook unites interdisciplinary scholarship with contributions critically assessing the state and direction of behavioural public policies their normative implications and political consequences A New Pension Settlement for the Twenty-first Century Pensions Commission, 2005-11-30 The Pensions Commission is an independent body established by the Government to review the adequacy of current arrangements for private pensions and retirement savings in the UK and to make recommendations on appropriate policy changes including the option of moving to a compulsory system Following on from its first report ISBN 0117027804 published in October 2004 this second report sets out the Commission's conclusions on the likely evolution of the UK pension system if policy is unchanged and makes recommendations for a new policy direction Recommendations are based on two key elements the automatic enrolment of employees into either a new National Pensions Savings System or into existing company pension schemes with an option for employees to opt out and with a modest compulsory employer matching contribution and reform of state pension provision in order to make it simpler to understand and less means tested The Commission concludes that these reforms will require some increase in public expenditure on pensions as a percentage of GDP over the next 45 years and that increases in state pension ages will be needed to keep that increase within sustainable levels over the long term The Commission presents a range of possible combinations of public expenditure and state pensions ages and calls for a public debate to consider these options It also recommends the establishment of a successor body to continue to review the situation and report to Parliament and government every four years Social Security Bulletin ,1982-07
