Rhetorics Literacies And Narratives Of Sustainability:

Rhetorics, Literacies, and Narratives of Sustainability Peter N. Goggin, 2011-02-23 In this volume rhetoricians literacy scholars and humanists have come together to examine the complex discursive constructions of sustainability Touching on topics including conservation efforts in specific locales social and political constructions of rhetorical place and space community literacy historical and archival analysis of institutional politics policies and practices concerning the environment and economic growth and development town planning and zoning issues and rhetorics of environmental remediation and sustainability this collection of essays provides rhetoricians and environmentalists a window into the complex and often contradictory arena of discourse on sustainability

Rhetoric Across Borders Anne Teresa Demo, 2015-07-15 Rhetoric Across Borders features a select representation of 27 essays and excerpts from the In Conversation panels at the Rhetoric Society of America's 2014 conference on Border Rhetorics

Environmental Rhetoric and Ecologies of Place Peter N. Goggin, 2013-07-18 Understanding how rhetoric and environmental rhetoric in particular informs and is informed by local and global ecologies contributes to our conversations about sustainability and resilience the preservation and conservation of the earth and the future of human society This book explores some of the complex relationships collaborations compromises and contradictions between human endeavor and situated discourses identities and landscapes social justice and natural resources movement and geographies unpacking and grappling with the complexities of rhetoric of presence Making a significant contribution to exploring the complex discursive constructions of environmental rhetorics and place based rhetorics this collection considers discourses actions and adaptations concerning environmental regulations and development sustainability exploitation and conservation of energy resources Essays visit arguments on cultural values social justice environmental advocacy and identity as political constructions of rhetorical place and space Rural and urban case studies contribute to discussions of the ethics and identities of environment and the rhetorics of environmental cartography and glocalization Contributors represent a range of specialization across a variety of scholarly research in such fields as communication studies rhetorical theory social cultural geography technical professional communication cartography anthropology linguistics comparative literature ecocriticism literacy studies digital rhetoric media studies and discourse analysis Thus this book goes beyond the assumption that rhetorics are situated and challenges us to consider not only how and why they are situated but what we mean when we theorize notions of situated place based rhetorics

Mapping Environmental Risk and Energy Communication Barbara George, 2024-10-15 As the rise of the Anthropocene has led to serious deliberation about how energy is best produced and distributed in a world pressured by both the depletion of natural resources and global climate change advances in technology have enabled new systems of extracting energy like High Volume Hydraulic Fracturing HVHF commonly known as fracking that complicate these discussions In this book Barbara George explores how citizens impacted by HVHF tell stories about environmental risks the conflict they experience in attempting to articulate these risks and the hope for a post carbon future in which HVHF is banned Deep ideologies linked to history coal and industry permeate areas like the Rust Belt and Appalachia and George argues create frames that encourage and advocate for HVHF and make it difficult for publics in these locales to find a platform to tell their stories in a meaningful way This book offers a case study of three communities in the United States New York Pennsylvania and Ohio and how each community frames HVHF environmental and health risks differently based on their differing sociocultural histories Scholars of communication environmental studies history and sociology may find this book of particular interest Recontextualized Knowledge Olaf Kramer,Markus Gottschling,2020-11-23 Recontextualized Knowledge aims to analyze the communicative situations involved in the popularization of scientific knowledge their settings audiences and the adaptive process of recontextualization in science communication Taking an interdisciplinary approach this publication brings together essays from rhetoric linguistics and psychology as well as political and education sciences to serve as an in depth exploration of today s communicative situations in science communication A Responsive Rhetorical Art Elenore Long,2018-10-24 A Responsive Rhetorical Art explores the risk ridden realm of wise if always also fallible rhetorical action the productive knowledge building required to compose and to leverage texts broadly construed for the purposes of public life marked by shrinking public resources cultural conflict and deferred hope Here composition and literacy learning hold an important and distinctive cultural promise the capacity to invent with other people new ways forward in light of their own interests and values and in the face of obstacles that could not have otherwise been predicted Distributed across publicly situated strangers including citizen educators this work engages a persistent challenge of early rhetorical uptake in public life that what might become public and shared is often tacit and contested The book s approach combines attention to local cases with a transnational student organization the Nipmuck Chaubunagungamaug and the South Sudanese diaspora in Phoenix with a revisable guide for taking up wise action and methods for uncovering elusive institutional logics Environmental Preservation and the Grey Cliffs Conflict Kristin D. Pickering,2024-02-15 Based on a qualitative ethnographic observational case study approach Environmental Preservation and the Grey Cliffs Conflict presents an analysis of the conflict negotiation between the U S Army Corps of Engineers and a local community that struggled to address a deteriorating Corps managed recreational lake area in Tennessee known as Grey Cliffs Viewing the dispute from the perspective of a new member of the community and a specialist in technical communication and professional writing Kristin Pickering provides a unique perspective on this communication process Though environmental degradation and unauthorized use threatened the Grey Cliffs recreational lake area to the point that the Corps considered closure community members valued it highly and wanted to keep it open The community near this damaged and crime ridden area needed help rejuvenating its landscape and image but the Corps and community were sharply divided on how to maintain this beloved geographic space because of the stakeholders different cultural backgrounds and values as well as the narratives used to discuss them By co constructing and aligning narratives values and ethos over time a difficult and lengthy process the Corps and community succeeded and Grey Cliffs remains open to all Focusing on field notes participant interviews and analysis of various texts created throughout the conflict Pickering applies rhetorical analysis and a grounded theory approach to regulation identity sustainability and community values to analyze this communication process Illustrating the positive change that can occur when governmental organizations and rural communities work together to construct shared values and engage in a rhetoric of relationship that preserves the environment Environmental Preservation and the Grey Cliffs Conflict provides key recommendations for resolving environmental conflicts within local communities especially for those working in technical and professional communication organizational communication environmental science and public policy Unsustainable Laurie J. C. Cella, Jessica Restaino, 2012-12-14 Unsustainable Re imagining Community Literacy Public Writing Service Learning and the University edited by Jessica Restaino and Laurie Cella explores short lived university community writing projects in an effort to rethink the long held gold standard of long term sustainability in community writing work Contributors examine their own efforts in order to provide alternate models for understanding assessing and enacting university community writing projects that for a range of reasons fall outside of traditional practice This collection considers what has become an increasingly unified call for praxis where scholar practitioners explore a specific project that fell short of theorized best practice sustainability in order to determine not only the nature of what remains how and why we might find value in a community based writing project that lacks long term sustainability for example but also how or why we might rethink redefine and reevaluate best practice ideals in the first place In so doing the contributors are at once responding to what has been an increasing acknowledgment in the field that for a variety of reasons many community based writing projects do not go as initially planned and also applying in praxis a framework for thinking about and studying such projects Unsustainable represents the kind of scholarly work that some of the most recognizable names in the field have been calling for over the past five years This book affirms that unpredictability is an indispensable factor in the field and argues that such unpredictability presents in fact demands a theoretical approach that takes these practical experiences as its base

Mapping Christian Rhetorics Michael-John DePalma, Jeffrey M. Ringer, 2014-10-10 The continued importance of Christian rhetorics in political social pedagogical and civic affairs suggests that such rhetorics not only belong on the map of rhetorical studies but are indeed essential to the geography of rhetorical studies in the twenty first century This collection argues that concerning ourselves with religious rhetorics in general and Christian rhetorics in particular tells us something about rhetoric itself its boundaries its characteristics its functionings In assembling original research on the intersections of rhetoric and Christianity from prominent and emerging scholars Mapping Christian Rhetorics seeks to locate religion more centrally within the geography of rhetorical studies in the twenty first century It does so by acknowledging work on Christian rhetorics that has been overlooked or ignored connecting domains of knowledge and research areas pertaining to Christian rhetorics that may remain disconnected or under connected and charting new avenues of inquiry about Christian rhetorics that might invigorate theory building teaching research and civic engagement In dividing the terrain of Christian rhetorics into four categories theory education methodology and civic engagement Mapping Christian Rhetorics aims to foster connections among these areas of inquiry and spur future future collaboration between scholars of religious rhetoric in a range of research areas

Rhetorics of Names and Naming Star Medzerian Vanguri, 2016-01-29 This volume takes up rhetorical approaches to our primarily linguistic understanding of how names work considering how theories of materiality in rhetoric enrich conceptions of the name as word or symbol and help explain the processes of name bestowal accumulation loss and theft Contributors theorize the formation modification and recontextualization of names as a result of technological and cultural change and consider the ways in which naming influences identity and affects grants power
