Expectations vs Realities of Information Privacy and Data Protection Measures Indranath Gupta, 2025-01-30 This book is a machine generated literature overview of the legal and ethical debates over privacy and data protection measures in the last three decades showcasing the expectations vis vis realities of their presence and application in different sectors The book identifies the role and application of consent in different situations Over time consent in its various forms and types informed explicit and otherwise ensured data subjects have a measured understanding of the purpose of data processing The idea of consent with time has been challenging to implement with the rapid advancement of research in different areas It remains the most critical fulcrum yet there are instances when the implementation continues to challenge Owing to the nature of this sub discipline it remains a work in progress yet portrays a comprehensive range of issues The entire narrative is being explored through two such machine generated overview volumes and this is the first of the two These volumes have consciously tried to remain both jurisdictional and technology neutral while considering a range of data protection and privacy issues Towards that end this book has chapters that capture overarching issues about data protection and privacy conceptualizes data protection from different perspectives and its existing debates with other rights and developments in a democratic society provides a snapshot of developments happening in various jurisdictions and how data protection framework engages with other laws It also broaches the critical issue of consent and how consent as a requirement has evolved and integrated with health research and other allied areas The subsequent volume titled Operationalizing Expectations and Mapping Challenges of Information Privacy and Data Protection Measures in the Last Three Decades would focus on different sectors and how these sectors have been tackling different expectations concerning data protection and privacy It will also showcase how technology plays a catalyst in implementing data protection requirements The book highlights the future research areas in the context of data protection and privacy The volumes are an invaluable resource for not only researchers but also policy makers practitioners corporate sector across disciplines and anyone looking to get an idea about the evolution of privacy data protection issues and the application of consent over the last three decades since 1990

Privatization and Its Discontents Matthew Titolo, 2023-06-22 In Privatization and Its Discontents Matthew Titolo situates the contemporary debate over infrastructure in the long history of public private governance in the United States Titolo begins with Adam Smith's arguments about public works and explores debates over internal improvements in the early republic moving to the twentieth century regulatory state and public interest liberalism that created vast infrastructure programs While Americans have always agreed that creation and oversight of infrastructure is a proper public function Titolo demonstrates that public private governance has been a highly contested practice throughout American history Public goods are typically provided with both government and private actors involved resulting in an ideological battle over the proper scope of the government sphere and its relationship to private interests The course of that debate reveals that public and private have no inherent or natural content These concepts are instead necessarily political and must be set through socially negotiated compromise

Intrinsic Motivation and Self-Determination in Human Behavior Edward L. Deci,Richard M. Ryan,2013-06-29

Early in this century most empirically oriented psychologists believed that all motivation was based in the physiology of a set of non nervous system tissue needs The theories of that era reflected this belief and used it in an attempt to explain an increasing number of phenomena It was not until the 1950s that it became irrefutably clear that much of human motivation is based not in these drives but rather in a set of innate psychological needs Their physiological basis is less understood and as concepts these needs lend themselves more easily to psycho logical than to physiological theorizing The convergence of evidence from a variety of scholarly efforts suggests that there are three such needs self determination competence and interpersonal relatedness This book is primarily about self determination and competence with particular emphasis on the former and about the processes and structures that relate to these needs The need for interpersonal relat edness while no less important remains to be explored and the findings from those explorations will need to be integrated with the present theory to develop a broad organismic theory of human motivation Thus far we have articulated self determination theory which is offered as a working theory a theory in the making To stimulate the research that will allow it to evolve further we have stated self determination theory in the form of minitheories that relate to more circumscribed domains and we have developed paradigms for testing predictions from the various minitheories

Innovation and IPRs in China and India Kung-Chung

Liu,Uday S. Racherla,2016-05-19 This book examines the two most populous nations on earth India and China in an effort to demystify the interaction between intellectual property rights IPR regimes innovation and economic growth by critically looking at the economic and legal realities In addition it analyzes the question of how innovation can best be transformed into IPR and how IPR can best be exploited to encourage innovation Comparing and contrasting these two giant nations can be highly beneficial as China and India were the two fastest growing economies in the last three decades and together their populations make up one third of the world's total population as such exploring how to sustain their growth via innovation and commercialization of IPR could have a tremendous positive impact on global well being While a study of these two mega countries with such diverse dimensions and magnitudes can never be truly comprehensive this joint effort by scholars from law business management and economics disciplines that pursues an empirical approach makes a valuable contribution Divided into three parts the first offers an in depth doctrinal and empirical analysis The second part exclusively focuses on India while the last is dedicated to China Mechanisms for Policy Development and Acceptance Richard K.

Taube,1979 Ethnography in the Open Science and Digital Age: New Debates, Dilemmas, and Issues Colin

Jerolmack,Alexandra Murphy ,Victoria Reyes,2024-06-19 In the current moment ethnography is caught up in a number of debates that have led ethnographers to reflect on classic methodological and ethical dilemmas in new ways The replication crisis had led to a movement for open science e.g registering hypotheses in advance sharing codes and data but it seems unclear that recommended best practices are appropriate to ethnography It's even up for debate whether ethnography is more of a social science or a genre The fact that many ethnographies are widely read invites questions and criticisms from beyond the ivory tower including our subjects about the ethics of representation e.g who has license to write about whom and the extent to which journalistic standards of data verification and transparency e.g fact checking naming sources should apply to qualitative research Some ethnographers are calling for more open critical discussions about the embodied dimensions of fieldwork including not only emotions but also issues like sexual intimacy and harassment There's also a growing expectation that ethnographers empower our subjects to represent and analyze themselves What's more as more of social life is lived online it becomes increasingly unclear where the boundaries of the field site should be drawn and whether ethnographic conventions can be applied wholesale to the study of digital spaces Alternative Globalizations S. A. Hamed Hosseini,2009-12-04 This book explores the formation and transformation of ideas identities and solidarities in the global opposition to the corporate led globalization and its ideological basis neo liberalism New Construction and Rehabilitation on College Campuses W. Robert Bokelman,Leslie Frank Robbins,1963 Empowering Teachers and Democratising Schooling Keith Heggart,Steven Kolber,2022-09-13 This edited book brings together teachers and education academics who are committed to education about for and through democracy It presents a diverse range of viewpoints about the challenges facing educators working across different sectors and discusses ways to challenge issues like neoliberalism excessive managerialism and accountability and privatisation It also engages with the times that education has and continues to fail students This book outlines both logistical and ideological challenges which educators committed to democracy face and describes innovative approaches they have adopted including networking the use of social media and digital tools and extending their reach beyond their local communities to international audiences It encourages conversations about how educators and academics might re commit to education for democracy and generate further avenues for discussion and
