Pyramid Rising Planetary Acupuncture To Combat Climate Change:

Pyramid Rising Zach Royer, 2014-05-19 In this book I write about a connection I noticed between natural disasters and ancient stone structures like pyramids and megaliths I suggest a new approach to reducing the intensity of earthquakes and other natural disasters with specific placements of pyramids and other massive constructions Plans are already underway to stabilize the earth's grid with new megalithic constructions being built today Based on years of study into environmental science climate change natural disasters worldwide famine and planetary unbalance coupled with my life long thirst of ancient history and mystery I truly believe that most of the unusual ancient structures like Stonehenge and the pyramids of Giza were built to interact with the Earth's energies forces of nature such as magnetism gravity light heat and telluric energy Think of it as acupuncture on a planetary scale Human beings seek acupuncture for certain ailments when energy pathways known as meridians are blocked a condition which can lead to disease and fatigue The human body and the earth are constructed in a similar way the saying As Above So Below is more than just a saying it's a universal Truth I emphasize that in this book While researching for Pyramid Rising I learned from a colleague that rebuilding the pyramid grid could also repair the wandering North and South Poles locking them into place once again giving us back the perfect 360 day year Could that have been the ultimate reason for their construction Possibly Pyramid Rising Zach Royer, John Shaughnessy, 2013-09-22 In this book I outline a radical solution based on years of personal research to the ever increasing problems of climate change natural disasters worldwide famine and planetary unbalance building and repairing pyramids and megaliths that correlate to the World Grid such as the ones built long ago in a lost and forgotten age At some point in earth's history the actual dates vary there was a massive global undertaking involving the construction of pyramids megaliths and other incredible structures I have to think it was more than just coincidence that distant cultures built incredibly similar structures along a common grid The decision to build these gigantic works in ancient times I believe was part of a globally coordinated attempt by a lost civilization to stabilize the earth's violent energies using the most sophisticated technology of the time Stone Big stones The Ancient pyramid building civilizations constructed a global network for this purpose but it is thought they didn't complete the network in time Disaster struck and history records the latest global disaster as the Great Flood Certain pyramids were built in conjunction with certain volcanoes as part of a global thermostat as demonstrated by Shaughnessy's Law of Gravity in the book Pyramid Gravity Force which ties right in to the Pyramid Rising planetary acupuncture solution I ask it is possible to minimize or possibly prevent a disaster such as a major earthquake from happening again Is humanity ready for the changes that lie ahead as a result of current solar activity Now is our chance to combine Ancient Wisdom with modern technology before history repeats itself
