Exploring the human rights-based approach in the context of the implementation and monitoring of the SSF Guidelines

Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, 2018-11-09 The SSF Guidelines are based on internationally accepted human rights standards and are to be interpreted and implemented in accordance with those standards. Their objectives are to be met through the promotion of a human rights based approach (HRBA). This approach seeks to ensure the participation of small scale fishing communities in non discriminatory transparent and accountable decision making processes by putting particular emphasis on the needs of vulnerable and marginalized groups and developing countries. While the HRBA has been recognized by FAO as a principle that informs the design implementation monitoring and evaluation of programmes and projects, there is still limited experience in its practical application in the context of small scale fisheries SSF. It is therefore important to explore how the approach could support the implementation and monitoring of the SSF Guidelines. Accordingly the workshop on Exploring the human rights based approach in the context of the implementation and monitoring of the SSF Guidelines explored what the human rights based approach means within the context of small scale fisheries in general and the thematic areas covered by the SSF Guidelines in particular. It discussed what the HRBA entails in terms of the conduct of the various state and non state actors to whom the SSF Guidelines are addressed as well as the needs of the different stakeholders in the various policy areas with a view to developing guidance materials for the application of the HRBA in the implementation and monitoring of the SSF Guidelines.

Human Rights-Based Change Maija Mustaniemi-Laakso, Hans-Otto Sano, 2018-03-08 This book provides different analytical perspectives into how human rights based approaches to development (HRBADs) contribute to change. Based on the understanding that HRBADs are increasingly integrated into development and governance discourse and processes in many societies and organisations it explores how the reinforcement of human rights principles and norms has impacted the practices and processes of development policy implementation. To reflect on the nature of the change that such efforts may imply the chapters examine critically traditional and innovative ways of mainstreaming and institutionalising human rights in judicial bureaucratic and organisational processes in development work. Attention is also paid to the results assessment and causal debates in the human rights field. The articles discuss important questions concerning the legitimacy of and preconditions for change. What is the change that development efforts should seek to contribute to and who should have the power to define such change? What is required of institutional structures and processes within development organisations and agencies in order for human rights integration and institutionalisation to have transformative potential? This book was previously published as a special issue of the Nordic Journal of Human Rights.
